With the Windgate fellowship I will travel to Italy for a workshop with Valentin Yotkov, a master of chasing and repousse. Subsequently I will go to Bulgaria where I will study the Thracian treasure, an exquisite example of those techniques. I will also attend Terra Madre in Torino, Italy. Terra Madre will provide me with valuable insight and knowledge into the emerging food revolution. When I return to the Bay Area, I envision starting a studio where I can create a body of work informed by these experiences.
