Haraway, Donna. Staying with the Trouble: Making Kin in the Chthulucene. Duke University Press, 2016.

"Feminist theorist Donna Haraway is the figure to turn to when we don't know how to act in a troubled world. With Haraway we stay with the trouble and learn how to act responsibly. Her brilliant and radical thinking helps deprogramme any vestiges of anthropocentric thought we may still harbour, because anthropocentric thinking is deadly for the planet. 'How can we think in terms of urgencies without the self-indulgent and self-fulfilling myths of apocalypse when every fiber of our being is complicit, in the webs of processes that must somehow be engaged and repatterned?' This, her latest book, is the most relevant so far for the fixers of the world. Collect up the trash of the anthropocene to build still possible futures and still liveable worlds, she says. Read all the Haraway you can and tell her stories to all your kin."
